[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO DECEMBER 21.

Bombardment of Paris Begun.

DIEPPE, Dec 27.—A dispatch from the commanding General of the Saxon troops before Paris announces that the bombardment of Fort Avron commenced to day. This fortification is the most advanced of the French outworks on the east of Paris, and crowns Mount Avron, a considerable elevation six miles from the city wall.

Dispatches via London.

LONDON, Dec 27.—A delegation from the citizens of Luxemburg to day presented Prince Henry with a patriotic address. The Prince in reply expressed confidence in their ability to defend the Duchy.

Gladstone has published a letter indignantly denying the report of his conversion to the Roman Catholic faith.

The Shipping Gazette, which first doubted, now admits the truth of the report concerning the treatment of British vessels in the Seine by the Prussians, and declares that the Government must instantly demand explanation and redress from Prussia.

Royalty Quarreling.

LONDON, Dec 27.—The Manchester Guardian to morrow will contain a statement that King William and the Princess Royal of Prussia wrote to the Queen that they were opposed to the marriage of the Princess Louisa with the Marquis of Lorne. The Queen replied vehemently advising them to mind their own business. The incident has materially changed the feeling of the Court toward Germany.

Bismarck refuses to give Favre a safe conduct to go to the Congress of the Powers.

The expedition sent to Oran to observe the eclipse was a failure.

LONDON, Midnight, Dec. 27.—The French army of the North has fallen back to Arras, having evacuated Corbie, Albert and Achens.

LONDON, Dec 27.—Bismarck, in a note to the Cabinet of Vienna, calls attention to the reorganization of Germany, and expresses the hope that nothing in the treaty of Prague will interfere with her development.

Eastern States.

The Richmond Disaster.

RICHMOND, Dec 27.—No more bodies have been recovered from the recent great fire, and it is thought that the number of victims is now known.

Schenck's Instructions.

WASHINGTON, Dec 2.—The Department of State has not prepared Minister Schenck's instructions on the Alabama claims, nor will they be until Mr. Schenck returns to Washington. It is not officially known when the new Minister will leave, but reports say about the middle of January.

Telegraphic Matters.

CHICAGO, Dec 27.—There is no foundation whatever for the report sent to the Pacific coast by the Great Western and Atlantic and Pacific lines last night. It is probably a dodge to sell the stock of those companies.

Georgia Election.

ATLANTA, Dec 27.—The Radicals concede that Georgia has gone Democratic by 30 000 to 40 000. Thus far only two Radical Senators are elected, both colored men.

European Topics.

THE IMPENDING DIFFICULTY WITH RUSSIA—ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE—GRATUITOUS ADVICE—ON SLAUGHT UPON MR. BRIGHT—ENGLISH POLICY REPROVED—PUBLIC SENTIMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Times.]

LONDON, Saturday, Nov 26 1870.

Russia, it is reported, has sent a very conciliatory answer to the protest of England and Austria, but it must be a very soft answer indeed that will turn away the wrath of John Bull, and what explanation can be made that will be satisfactory, short of the withdrawal of the Russian note? Russia will or will not stand by the bargain forced upon her in 1856—will or will not observe the neutrality of the Black Sea. But Russian armaments—all her naval and military preparation the heavy guns for Cronstadt, the improved equipments of her field artillery, the fact that she has allowed no horses to be sold to Prussia for the last year, do not look like backing down before a little bluster from a country so entirely unprepared for war as Great Britain. I cannot doubt that Russia is entirely in earnest—I see no reason to believe that Prussia will protest against the repudiation of a treaty since she respects her own only when it is quite convenient. France is not in condition to dictate peace to Europe. Austria exists only by the sufferance of her two powerful neighbors. The sole condition of opposing Russia is to free France from her invader, and this means a general war over Europe, a league of the whole South and West against the Central and Northern Powers.

GRATUITOUS ADVICE.

Karl Blind thinks it the interest of Germany and of European freedom to oppose the ambition of Russia and save Hungary and Turkey from her grasp. But he writes in behalf of German democracy rather than its junkerdom and monarchy. If Germany hesitates, he says,

"The resistance of the French will be prolonged, for they will hope that in consequence of the Russian demands a universal European complication will arise in the course of which they think England would, by the peculiar intricacies of the situation, gradually be drawn toward the side of France."

Earl Russell, at the age of seventy eight is still ready to take command of the channel fleet. He says

"It seems to me that we ought to stand as a rock on upon the ground which Lord Granville and his colleagues have taken. Nor do I see any difficulty in procuring an embodied militia. With a sufficient bounty, we might easily enlist one hundred thousand men for five years' service. The late Baron Rothschild, of Paris, told me that if at any time the English Government, of which I was then the head, wanted one hundred millions sterling, he would be happy to furnish the sum so that neither men nor money would be wanting. Thus provided, I should be disposed to say in the spirit of Lord Granville's dispatch, if the Russian Emperor asks for a conference on the Treaty of 1856 at a time when such a conference can be assembled let us meet him in a fair spirit, and consider with France, Prussia, Italy, Austria and Turkey in what manner we can find substitute for the neutralization of the Black Sea. But if the Czar proposes to set aside the Treaty of 1856 by force let us meet him by force, and the sooner the better."

The Earl of Shaftsbury goes with Earl Russell. He says of the Russian declaration

Such principles as these are absolutely fatal. They stand in the way of all peaceful solutions of all permanent arrangements. Every one now is panting with a desire to see the termination of this dreadful war between France and Germany. But how can the parties come together for any useful issue under this new interpretation of the law of nations? Every clause of a proposed treaty will be subjected to mental reservation and under the language of grave promise and solemn engagement will be force and opportunity the real meaning of the thing, whenever they can be advantageously exercised.

Sir Charles Trevelyan takes similar ground but does not like England's military position.

"At the present moment," he says, "all our war material is at Woolwich the most exposed position in the kingdom. We have all our eggs in one nest. If Woolwich were taken where would we be? This was the mistake from which France was now suffering. How different was the case in Prussia. Every district has its regiment or regiments, and its seperate depot for war materials and the loss of one of them was not felt. Besides, there was a good moral public feeling in Germany. Men thought more of the affairs of the nation than they did of their own interests, and there was no such thing as jobbing known in Prussia."

Mr. Mill and a few others plead for peace, and the right of annulling treaties when convenient. He says: "Mankind are now beginning to find out that anything whatever to which a nation attempts to bind either itself or others in perpetuity, be it a constitution a dynasty, an irrevocable law, a particular disposition of public or private property or whatever else, will assuredly, at some time or other, require to be and will actually be shaken off by those to whom it is injurious."

And thus you observe, covers a wide ground justifying divorce repudiation nullification, secession rebellion, and John Stuart Mill is our "great authority." Mr. Mill is of opinion that no treaties or bargains of any kind should be made except for a term of years. A man should take a wife on lease, and swear allegiance during good behavior. The American rule of rotation in office, as far as it goes would suit Mr. Mill exactly. A correspondent of the Standard suggests a way out of the difficulty. He says

"Our national allies in a war with Russia would be France and Austria—and Prussia paralyses both. To secure the aid of either we must step into the assistance of France. There is another course open to us—that of emulating the political immorality of the two northern allies—acting the part of receiver to the two bold burglars, and stipulating for our share of the spoils—availing ourselves of the difficulties of France to seize on Egypt, and thus, secure of our route to India, tolerate the absorption of Turkey, and wink at the dismemberment of France. This ruffianly policy will, no doubt meet with plenty of advocates, who will recommend it on the combined grounds of 'culture,' economy and interest."

ONSLAUGHT UPON MR. BRIGHT.

Under cover of the Russian difficulty the Standard and Pall Mall Gazette have opened a heavy fire on Mr. Bright. "The position of Mr. Bright in the Cabinet is as humiliating to himself as it is dangerous to his country. It is a scandal far greater and more indecent than that which arises out of an ordinary political job in just the ratio that Mr. Bright is greater and more conspicuous than ordinary politicians." For a whole year Mr. Bright has done nothing to earn his salary while his long ago expressed opinions on the Russian question are a danger to the country and an embarrassment to the Government.

In 1854 he said at Manchester

"The danger of the Russian Power is a phantom; the necessity of permanently upholding the Mohammedan rule in Europe is an absurdity. Our love for civilization, when we subject Greeks and Christians to the Turks, is a sham. I will have no part in this terrible crime. My hands shall be sustained with the blood which is being shed. The severity of maintaining themselves in office (mark what a purist is here about office!) may influence an Administration; delusion may mislead a people; Vattel may afford you a law and a defense, but no respect for men who form a Government, no regard I have for going with the stream, and no fear of being deemed wanting in patriotism, shall influence me in favor of a policy which, in my conscience I believe to be so criminal before God as it is destructive of the true interests of my country."

Now, if Mr. Bright still holds these views, how can he stay in the Cabinet which sustains the Treaty of Paris—the result of a war which he branded as criminal? However this may be, the Birmingham Post, a paper which may be considered as much as any other, an organ of Mr. Bright, says of the Russian repudiation

There is no doubt that in this astute, Russia commits a flagrant, we might justly say a barbarous act of international bad faith that she strikes a deadly blow against all existing treaties, and that she renders it difficult to put confidence in her fidelity to treaties for the future.

ENGLISH POLICY REPROVED.

A correspondent of the Standard, who fancies that Prince Gortschakoff, when he wrote his famous, or infamous, dispatch, saw the sharp features of Brother Jonathan peering over his shoulder, with Alabama claims in his pocket, says

"It has long been evident that what kept Russia in check was the combined power of France and England, and that with the collapse of the military power of France, at the feet of Russia's accomplice, the Cabinet of St. Petersburg would release itself from its treaty obligations. It was on the banks of the Seine that we should have defended the Bosphorus. But as we have sown so shall we reap. We have decl red that our policy was to abstain from interference in Continental politics—under the mistaken idea that they did not concern us! There is nothing that takes place on the Continent that England can afford to set down in that category, if she means to retain her political position—if not, Professor Goldwin Smith had better be sent for at once and our annexation to the United States effected without delay."

ENGLISH SENTIMENT.

The feeling of England toward Russia strongly, almost unanimously as it find expression in the press, is not too family or unitedly represented in the Cabinet. The nation would gladly get back Palmerston in place of Gladstone. They feel themselves compromised by Bright. They have not much reliance on Childers, Bruce or Ayrton. If Mr. Odo Russell's news from Versailles should prove unfavorable there may be an imperative demand for an early meeting of Parliament, and any hour there might be a change of Ministry. The Times wants no war, it looks upon war with horror. A time must come, it says "when the greatest blessing for the majority of the human race will be the united and friendly action of England and Russia"—leaving America out in the cold. "But peace" it says "depends on Russia."

The Black Sea Question.

A Washington dispatch of the 11th Dec remarks: It is noted here as quite remarkable that Hon E. Joy Morris, late United States Minister to Constantinople, made the following very accurate prediction of the present condition of Eastern affairs in his dispatches to Secretary Fish as long ago as the 2d of September last:

"If Prussia shall succeed in yet further confeebling France, the position of the Porte will become very critical and the more so as Russia has preserved her military resources intact. The system of railways in Russia interlocking as it does all points of the Empire, and converging on the Austrian and Turkish frontiers enables Russia to throw her whole army on any given point at any moment, and to attack Turkey with an overwhelming might while keeping up in her lines of communication. Russia, with the consummate diplomatic sagacity and craft that distinguishes her will try to take advantage of the crisis and provoke a revision of the treaties of 1856 by which the Black Sea was neutralized and the Bosphorus and Dardanelles were closed to the passage of her vessels of war. It will be strange if she does not succeed, aiming, as she will to obtain honorable conditions of peace for France and exercising, as she will a dominating influence in settling the terms of peace. The Black Sea opened to the fleets of Russia Sebastopol again a naval dock yard and harbor and the Bosphorus and Dardanelles free for the passage of Russian men of war, Constantinople would be in constant danger and could be attacked and taken before it could be relieved by outside aid. It will thus be seen that the Oriental question is likely soon to be re-opened and under very unfavorable auspices to the security of Turkey."

How wonderful are the laws governing human existence! Were it not for tight lacing, all civilized nations would be overrun with women.

Thurlow Weed is rapidly completing his biography.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Dispatches via London.

LONDON, Dec 28.—Chauncey complains bitterly of the conduct of the Prussians, and denies being defeated. He says revenge will follow.

Calais was visited by the Prussians, but they left after a requisition.

It is said Bourbaki is proceeding east against Werder.

A Correspondent's Story.

NEW YORK, Dec 28.—A correspondent under date of Orleans, Dec 18th, reports an interview with Bishop Dupanloupe, in which he said that the Army of the Loire is only a collection of men among whom the greatest demoralization is created by contact with the Prussians, and he denies that De Paladines is in the interest of the Duke of Nemours. He said peace should be made but France seemed just now to be in a situation without an issue. If Paris gave up it would end the matter, but Trochu is not free in the Bismarck told Thiers he was going to [illegible] Paris. Once in possession the Prussians would have a permanent influence over France.

Gambetta is convicted by his proclamation on Paladines of being a liar of the first order. The recapture of Orleans passed under our own eyes and we know that instead of three hundred thousand men and five hundred guns as Gambetta says Paladine, to our positive knowledge had only 50 000 men in the immediate front of Frederiel Charles. The rest of his men were scattered for retreating and not fighting was Paladine's plan, from the first to the last. I did not say that the Army of the Loire is capable of rescuing the Prussians. I know the general inhabitants is for peace, once [illegible] thirsty Democrats America [illegible] France on account of the declaration of public is misplaced, because the people will never make a republic worthy of being such by Americans.

Another Correspondent's Story.

NEW YORK, Dec 28.—A correspondent has an interview at Bordeaux with Count Bourdy Minister Delegate of Foreign Affairs in regard to the chances of peace. He said at present peace was distant. It would be dishonorable on the part of [illegible] would change. From [illegible] Prussia made a great [illegible] peace with Favre at Versailles [illegible] condemn her for her [illegible] which might then have been [illegible] nor that would have been [illegible] without being humiliating to France [illegible] might guarantee against [illegible] France upon German [illegible] hatred and thirst for revenge [illegible] vail in the future, might [illegible] esteem. All that is now [illegible] try or Constituent Assembly [illegible] for a moment treat for peace [illegible] condition imposed by the Prussian government. Although there is hardly a man in France but laments war, yet there is scarcely one willing to allow the Government to give up territory. The rich and poor alike in the opinion that the only thing left us to fight out the war. If, in so doing, France is financially ruined, there will be less for Prussia to take.

NEW YORK, Dec 28.—A special from Versailles of the 22d show that Paris yet retains some of her old brilliancy. Necessary business is conducted as gaily as usual within her precincts and cafés and cabinhouses ply the streets as in former times. Show windows display tempting arrays.

The sortie a few days ago was a gallant effort but was completely repelled. It was bold in its conception but feeble in its execution. There were 100 000 men engaged, besides gunboats and upwards of 20 batteries, without counting guns in the earthworks. The German loss is insignificant.

The Prussians cannonaded St. Cats, and then entered the place, committing disorders. This injunction, served here to day practically suspends their business.

He not only did Gen. Grant a great injustice, but evinced the most lamentable ignorance of the very nature of the Executive office. The President of the United States is not the proprietor of grades and places in the public service. He confers appointments and promotions from considerations of the public good, and not from personal caprice and whim. What David D. Porter thought of U. S. Grant six years ago is not to be considered in the question as to who is the best man for Admiral of the navy. The question was decided by the President several months ago, and it would be throwing doubt on his honesty and patriotism to suppose that any impulse of personal pique would have induced him to withdraw an appointment which he had made with full conviction of its fitness and importance.

Admiral Porter has made a lamentable mistake. He has forgotten whose servant he is. He has imagined he was the lackey of the President and has gone down on his knees to save his place. His true master the people has witnessed this exhibition with silent disgust, and the bill of Gen. Logan, abolishing the grade of Admiral, is the clearest expression of popular judgment. The grade was created to do fitting honor to the great Captain who has gone and has not left his peer. Let the rank rest in abeyance until we can fill it with one like him who never disobeyed an order and never bowed the knee to any but God.

American Finance and Industry

Probably the last source from which an American would expect any commendation of the system of incidental protection to American industry as opposed to the so-called policy of free trade, would be an English commercial authority. But the results accomplished under our system are so vast and so entirely unprecedented that even English authorities are sometimes constrained to admit that the policy of protecting our own industries is contributing immensely to support the public burdens and help us pay our debt On this subject we take the following from the London Shipping Gazette

It may be remarked that much of the financial success of the United States Government has been owing to the existance of the Tariff, which has placed them in possession of a vast revenue. It is in this way that the high protective Tariff has been of service to the nation Whether the people themselves have been impoverished by the rapid reduction of the debt is a matter for further consideration, but the spectacle of a nation reducing such heavy liabilities at the rate of one twentieth per annum is somewhat unique in financial history

So it is conceded that duties are quite necessary as a means of paying debts. The incidental protection afforded factory hops industries and creates prosperity that both compensates for the high duties paid by the people and causes the country to steadily advance in wealth, notwithstanding the large revenue collected It is not true that the people are being "impoverished by the rapid reduction of the debt" On the contrary there is more before so much wealth and general prosperity in the country as now Our system allows us to prosper in spite of heavy [illegible] and taxation

[illegible] common fallacy to suppose [illegible] necessarily so much added to [illegible] goods and that the difference or [illegible] into the pockets of the manufacturers The clearest and most sagacious [illegible] in this country ever proved [illegible] Hamilton. In his famed [illegible] he said

[illegible] though it were true that the immediate and [illegible] effect of a tariff was an increase of price, it was virtually true that its contrary is the ultimate effect; with every successful manufacture, [illegible] a domestic manufacture has attained to [illegible] and has engaged in the prosecution of a competent number of persons [illegible] can be afforded and accordingly seldom or never fails to [illegible] cheaper in process of time than the foreign article for which it is a substitute The [illegible] competition which takes place, soon [illegible] with every thing like monopoly, and by degrees reduces the price of the article to the mini[illegible] a reasonable profit on the capital employed The records with the reason of the thing and with experience.

The further direct result of this policy is [illegible] our own workingmen and artisans of all kinds obtain employment at remunerative wages instead of being forced to remain idle [illegible] and commodities and manufactures of [illegible] countries come in to supply the demand [illegible] creation here

Pacific Railroad Bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury, recently [illegible] large sum due to the Union and Central Pacific railroads on account of transportation [illegible] government, on the ground [illegible] not paid up the interest [illegible] and that the Government had [illegible] forced to advance it. The companies [illegible] they should pay only half the interest The Attorney General decides that [illegible] government has the right to retain the [illegible] for services [illegible] by the railways of the United States, and to apply [illegible] payments or interest [illegible] the bonds

Judge Lawrence of [illegible] has introduced a [illegible] designed to cover this and similar cases The bill is now in committee and will soon be reported It provides that in all cases where bonds have been or may be granted to any railroad company for the purpose of aiding in the construction of a railroad and when bonds of the United States have been or may be granted to any such railroad company, which, by law constitutes a mortgage on the line of [illegible] and bonds and [illegible] due, or to become due to the United States or interest [illegible] principal paid or which may be paid, on such bonds shall constitute a lien on all such [illegible] which has been [illegible] so granted, and which are [illegible] mortgaged or by such company and the same shall only be sold or [illegible] from time to time with the approval [illegible] the Secretary of the Treasury, on condition with [illegible] will secure the proceeds to be applied [illegible] necessary to reimburse the United States [illegible] sums that have or may [illegible] on account of interest or principal [illegible] any such bonds and to finally pay said bonds and [illegible] money shall be paid by the United States [illegible] such railroad company [illegible] any such [illegible] subsidy so [illegible] while such company shall be indebted to the United States but the liability of the United States shall constitute a set-off against any claim of [illegible] company

The effect of this supply is that there is to [illegible] them on the lands granted as a surety for payment of all claims which have to be [illegible] the United States

Agricultural Fallacies

The Commissioner of Agriculture has made [illegible] part for the past year It is valuable [illegible] for the manner in which it discusses [illegible] the present faulty modes of culture and their pernicious effects upon the soil. We are taking the vitality out of mother earth and lessening our grand capital year by year at a fearful rate. The policy of raising grain for a distant market is spoken of as not at all wise. While exhausting the soil it brings no adequate return. We are told that the most "rational and recuperative culture" finds its most numerous examples in the Middle States, that it is comparatively frequent in the older sections of the West, is found occasionally in New England, and is beginning to be noticed in the South, but everywhere the contrary policy is predominant The greed for the acquisition of land is deemed a serious bar to reform in this matter of exhaustive culture Even the barrenness of soil in the old sections of country does not seem to be the incentive to frugal husbandry that has generally been supposed Some day our necessities will force us to reorganize our system of farming.

A bill has been introduced in Congress which provides that all elections for members of Congress and electors of President and Vice President shall be by ballot. The bill is in conformity with Article I, Section 4 of the Constitution of the United States In case it becomes a law it will change the method of voting in this State for the officers above named, and will doubtless lead besides to the total abolition of the viva voce system

It is reported that a Democratic club has been formed in San Francisco, for the purpose of working for the nomination of J. T Hoffman for the next President of the United States, and of Congressman Johnson for Governor of California

Several times during the above 15 years, on account of the rush of passengers to and from the mines and the close competition of different steamship lines, there has been more steamship tonnage afloat in our trade than was really required in the legitimate business of the Columbia river

Secretary Stanton once said that he had a purpose in converting the Arlington estate into a national cemetery He intended to prevent the Lee family from ever returning to the place, and if they did come back, he intended that they should encounter the ghosts of their victims The Government holds the property by a tax title. During the rebellion the taxes accumulated on it, and it was sold therefor, the Government being the purchaser. The time in which it could law fully be redeemed has long since passed In Gen. Butler's amnesty bill, now pending, there is a provision for the protection of national cemeteries A few days ago in the House Gen Butler, referring to this provision, said he thought it time, after hearing the eulogy on General Lee, that the idea that these cemeteries could be in any way tampered with should be put an end to If the Union soldiers did anything during the war, they certainly conquered land enough to be buried in.

They are the kind of horses stock raisers in this county need, and they will do well to keep them in the county.

Information is received that Commodore Wm H Gardner, U S Navy, died suddenly at the St Lawrence Hotel in Philadelphia on the 19 h of December, in the seventieth year of his age

Quite an excitement was occasioned in the House on the 19th by a personal explanation of Ingersoll of an attack made on him in the New York Evening Post He said the reason for the attack was that he had a brother of William Cullen Bryant turned out of office for stealing Dawes Judd and Farnsworth defended Bryant In the course of the debate, Ingersoll asked Bryant s defenders how many illegitimate children Bryant had in the town in which he lives

A bill will probably soon be produced in the House changing the Territorial Capital of Utah from Salt Lake City to Corinne The object of the bill is to remove the United States officers from a city in which there are few Gentiles to a rapidly growing town in which there are few Mormons It is reported that the citizens of Corinne, and, in fact, most of the Gentiles in the Territory, favor the change, and that sufficient land and other inducements will be offered to protect the Government from loss by the removal.

There will be about 130 supernumerary army officers to go out—chiefly Captains and First Lieutenants Each will receive a year's advance pay in cash, amounting to from $1,500 to $2 500 General Hancock's board, organized for the purpose of weeding out dissolute and incompetent officers, has accomplished but little It became evident some weeks since that the first of January would come before the board could make much progress in its labors, and the officers ordered before it have been put on the supernumerary list, and will necessarily go out at that time

The strong feeling which many members, especially from the Middle and Western States, brought with them in regard to "revenue reforms," has taken no definite shape as yet There are some who think a successful assault may be made this winter on the coal, salt and lumber duties, but the grounds of this hope are not evident Several bills reflecting one phase or another of this feeling have been introduced to repeal the low requiring Congress to assemble on the 4th of March The Republican free traders are impatient to try their strength in the new Congress at once, and profess some anxiety lest the opportunity may be lost by the repeal There is little danger They have overrated their strength extravagantly, and whether Congress meets in March or December, they have not the ghost of a chance of organizing the new House For reasons aside from the issue they have raised, the chances are against the repeal.

It is considered certain that the XLIId Congress will meet and organize on the 4th of March next A careful canvass has been made by persons interested in the organization, and none of the re elected members favor adjournment without electing officers The Speaker's signature is required to pay warrants, and members are thus enabled to get their money from month to month during recess There are now 213 Representatives elected, of whom 107 are members of the present House, while 106 are new men, though some few are well known, either from having served in previous Congresses or holding other positions Elections are yet to be held in 23 districts, in which it is believed the division between sitting and new members will remain about as above given The argument most frequently advanced in favor of retaining the law as it stands is, that it is a dangerous thing and an anomaly in a Republican Government to have a period of nine months in every second year, when it is impossible, under any circumstances, to have a Congress, except at the will of one man, the President, and that in case of the death of the President, Vice-President and President pro tem of the Senate, during such an interregnum anarchy might result, for there would be no Speaker of the House to be made President under the Constitution, and no authority to call Congress together to choose a Speaker

CURRENT NOTES

A "Southern School History of the United States," which abounds in misrepresentations of the North, has been indorsed by a majority of the School Board of Louisiana, Kentucky, and a very lively commotion has resulted among the Union citizens, who object to its being introduced into the schools as a text book

Professor Gould has found that the velocity of the electric waves through the Atlantic cables is from 7,000 to 8,000 miles per second, and depends somewhat upon whether the circuit is formed by the two cables or by one cable and the earth. Telegraph wires upon poles in the air conduct the electric waves with a velocity a little more than double this, and it is remarked as a curious fact, that the rapidity of the transmission increases with the distance between the wire and the earth, or the height of the support. Wires buried in the earth likewise transmit slowly, like submarine cables Wires placed upon poles but slightly elevated transmit signals with a velocity of 12,000 miles per second, while those at a considerable height give a velocity of 16,000 or 20,000 miles.

The London papers announce the death of George Anson Byron, eighth Baron Byron of Rochdale, county of Lancaster. He was born on the 30th of June, 1818, and succeeded his father on the 1st of March, 1868. This father, it will be remembered, was the cousin and successor of the celebrated poet The deceased served for a time in the British army, but retired in 1843 He was married, but died childless The Baron Byron is a lad of fifteen years, the eldest son of the late Frederick Byron, M A., barrister at law, who was the brother of the deceased peer and who died in 1861.

The people are all looking about for something extra nice for holiday dinners (and everybody has a holiday dinner) C M Martin is the man of the time and is fully prepared for the emergency. For proof consult his splendid stock of Family Groceries, Fresh Vegetables, Butter and Eggs Salt Fish, Chinook Salmon Bellies, Halibut Fins, Game of every description, all the Fruits of the season, Honey, and Nick nacks too numerous to mention.

Why is it that Kohn & Fishel keep the largest supply of Clothing in this city?
Because their sales require it
Why can they afford to sell cheaper than any other house?
Because they buy in large quantities and get them cheaper and because they are satisfied with small profits and quick returns, which system has brought them an enormous trade, and made them first in their business in the city

December is here with her storms and her rain
And it makes the folks of cold weather complain
Mark ye, dear gentlemen, this need not be so,
You can all be kept warm, for O NEIL & CO.
Cut it you so nicely, so snug and so warm,
With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there
Unlike Flora McFlimsey can find something to wear

NERVOUS HEADACHE, LIVER COMPLAINT, &c &c —The brain being the most delicate and sensitive of all our organs is necessarily more or less affected by all our bodily ailments A head ache often the first symptom of a serious disease If the nervous system is affected there is always trouble at its source in the peritoneum And it may be here remarked that as the nerves fibre pervades the entire frame no part of the physical structure can be affected without the nervous suffering sympathetically Liver Complaint of every type affects the brain Sometimes the effect is stupor, confusion of ideas, hypochondriasis, sometimes persistent or periodical headache In any case the best remedy that can be taken is PLANTATION BITTERS In headache proceeding from indigestion or biliousness, or both, the stomachic and bilious properties of the preparation will soon relieve the torture by removing its cause If the complaint is purely nervous—in other words, if it has originated in the nervous system, and is not the result of sympathy the BITTERS will be equally efficacious

So light and delicate are all the preparations made from EPPS'S MOSS FARINE that it is invaluable for invalids, and all those requiring a light and easily digested food

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY—This medicine is a combination and a form indeed "if healing and curing all the ills which afflict us in the shape of coughs colds and inflammation of the throat, lungs and chest.

A FINE THING FOR THE TEETH —The fragrant SOZODONT has taken a very prominent place among the most approved denizens of the day It is a very popular article for the toilet, highly recommended by all who have used it, as a beautifier and preserver of the teeth refreshing the mouth sweetening the breath, and arresting the progress of decay

PETITION OF A PRESIDENT PRO TEM

The Mayor being absent Mr Moffett moved that Mr Congle be elected President for the evening

Mr Hallock moved to amend so as to elect Mr Congle President, till the Mayor be present or another Mayor be elected

Mr Hill opposed the amendment on the ground that he did not believe there is any warrant in the charter or any of its amendments for the election of President to serve any longer than for one meeting

Mr Hallock supported the amendment construing the amended charter to give the power for such election and that it contemplates the election of some person to serve as President and Mayor in the absence of the Mayor

THE "LITIGANT ORGAN" DEGS FOR PAP

Mr Caldwell, Auditor and Clark, reported to the Council the following communication received from the proprietors of the Oregon Herald

PORTLAND, Dec 26, 1870

W S CALDWELL, Auditor and Clerk—Dear Sir The Act passed at the last session of the Legislature, known as the "Litigant Act," provides that all legal and judicial advertisements of whatever kind "authorized or required to be published by any law of this State which shall be published in any other newspaper than the one so designated (as the official organ) shall be illegal and void." The Herald is litigant organ for Multnomah, and we claim that all notices required to be published by the City Charter (which is a law of this State) must be published in the Daily Herald, or they need not be heeded by parties concerned Hoping you will draw attention of the Common Council to this matter, we are, yours, etc

PATTERSON & CO,
Pubs Herald

The communication was referred to the Judiciary Committee and City Attorney

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following claims were ordered paid C H Myers, for maternal and repairs to hydrants (two bills), $33, John Wallace, hauling an engine, $1, E. Milwain, stove and pipe for city jail, $21, M Franklin three pairs of blankets for jail, $10.50, H. L. Pittock, advertising, $14 76, A Mallon, three cords of wood, $20, P G Baker, Taylor street work $227 96

NEW ORDINANCES

An ordinance, making an appropriation ($280) out of the general fund for the payment of the salary of the Police Judge—read three times and passed

An ordinance, to provide for the name and manner of improving South Fourth street, between Lincoln and Sherman streets—read first time and laid over.

SALARY OF CITY ATTORNEY

The ordinance introduced and read twice, several weeks ago, was read the third time and put upon its passage, and passed—yeas, 6, nays, 2 The nays were Messrs Hallock and Cree.

STREET GRADES.

The resolution concerning the establishment of grades on certain streets in Caruther's Addition (reported back this evening from a committee) was adopted.

PUBLICATION OF THE CHARTER, ETC

Mr. Hallock introduced a resolution (by request) that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare for publication in the City Directory for 1871, copies of the Charter and its amendments and such laws as it be deemed advisable to publish

Mr Hill moved to amend the resolution by striking out that part referring to ordinances, which was agreed to

The resolution was then adopted Mr Hallock voting nay

THE MONTHLY PAY ROLL

A resolution was adopted directing the Auditor to draw warrants on the 31st day of December for the payment of persons on the monthly pay roll, for water and gas for the Council Chamber, rent, etc

PAYMENT OF POLICE JUDGE, CHIEF ETC

A resolution was adopted that the name of the Police Judge be placed on the monthly pay roll, and that his salary be paid as others on the roll

A similar resolution relating to the Chief and Captain of Police and eight policemen, was adopted.

ENGINE PUMP OUT OF ORDER

Mr Caldwell, Auditor and Clerk stated that he had received a communication from the Chief Engineer to the effect that the pump of Engine No. 4, needs repairs, but had misplaid it

On motion the matter was referred to the Committee on Fire and Water with the usual instructions

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE

Mr Hallock rose to a question of privilege He regretted to be compelled to refer in the manner in which he was about to do, to any person connected with the Council Bringing his remarks to the point, he said that reporters of the press are privileged to sit here, to have access to papers, etc They were here by courtesy of the Council When reporters publish incorrect statements of the proceedings, they are guilty of a violation of their privilege He read a paragraph from the report of the Council proceedings as published in the daily Herald of last Friday, in regard to the introduction of the railroad subsidy ordinance He said the report was not correct It did not state as does the record, that he introduced the ordinance by request Why did not the reporter give the whole transaction as it occurred and as it is recorded? The report was wrong and it had done him injustice It had placed him in a false light before the public, and growing out of that publication he had been misrepresented That reporter ought not to be permitted any longer to occupy a seat here It seemed to him that the publication had been made for the purpose of setting him up as a puppet to be knocked down the next day The reporter should be censured and required to apologize to the Council for the violation of his privilege

Mr. Congle—in the Chair—said he coincided in the views of Mr Hallock as to the right of the Council to require an apology for a violation of privilege

Mr. Hill said that while he agreed with Mr Hallock's views as to violation of privilege he could readily conceive how the publication in its peculiar form, might have resulted from mistake, and not from any bad purpose He moved that, the reporter of the Herald being present, he be requested to explain—which was agreed to

Mr Murphy (Herald Reporter) said in response, that he did not at the time understand that Mr Hallock introduced the ordinance by request, and that what had been done incorrectly was done through inadvertence

M Congle—I presume that is satisfactory

Mr Hallock—If that apology be published in the paper (the Herald), it will be satisfactory

The Council then adjourned

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—P. S James' splendid drama of "The Carpenter of Rouen," was produced last evening to a good house and in such manner as to fully answer the highest expectations of the theater-going public It is sensational in plot and structure, liberally supplied with thrilling incidents and is stirring in its "business," with a denouement perfectly satisfactory to the audience The play will be repeated this evening, to be followed by the funny farce of "Turn Him Out" The bill is one of the best of the season

PARLOR SKATING.—Armory Hall was opened last evening as a skating rink—a seasonable amusement. There was a fair attendance, and judging from the degree of pleasure apparently enjoyed by those who indulged in the sport, there will be a large crowd to-day The hall will be open from 10 to 12, and again from 2 to half past four every day, and on Friday and Saturday evenings

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, a newsboy noted for truth and veracity—"so called—persist in saying that they are "bogus," California made" etc
Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE, and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer, who, after looking 'round" and hearing the old story about bogus Moline etc delivered himself thusly "Well Myers, I 11 just be darned if I wen't take bogus in mine every time"
Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other farm wagon in market in point of material workmanship and finish having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago,—have never yet had a first repair, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first class wagon, and WARRANT them such and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with inferior makes that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr Bain for this market

The Proposal from the Lady's Point of View.

The last number of the Saturday Review has a clever essay on proposals of marriage,—the point from the lady's point of view. The text of the short sermon is taken from the love scenes of the novelists. We select the following passage from the article —

Until woman's rights are put upon an advanced footing it is evident that a matrimonial engagement must constitute a more supreme and pre-eminent event in a woman's life than in a man's. She feels that she holds the clew in her hands: it is the moment when her thoughts are stronger her precaution more sensitive, her instincts acuter than in her rival,—man the anchor. We have a pathetic instance of this in the life of Miss Austen who finished Persuasion in declining health. She did not bring about the re-engagement of Anne Elliot and Captain Wentworth to her mind 'and went to rest in very low spirits in consequence. It was terrible, no doubt, to fail her heroine at such a crisis. But under the stimulus of the occasion her powers rallied before morning, she cancelled the condemned chapters,—which, however, every lover of her works must long to see, believing her rejected pages still better than most other writers best—by a final effort raised herself to the dignity of her theme, and satisfied herself and, we need not say, all our readers.

As the declaration approaches the lovers, in some ladies novels, set their teeth for an encounter,—a trial of will and strength through which alone a true understanding can be evolved. Miss Bronte first set this fashion. "I see the line which is my limit," is the lady's thought. "Nothing shall make me pass it. My heart may break, it is baffled, let it break.' "We had reached a critical point," notes the gentleman, "and we halted and looked at each other." She would not give in, I felt." "You can tell me, and shall tell me," he cries. "I never will" is the response. If the reader were not turning over the last pages, he might feel what would come of it. This duel of hearts is Miss Bronte's ideal, but she has milder scenes of very peculiar excellence. What pleasant original humor is in Shirley" where the boy, Martin [illegible] can area new insight into human nature, a young poor unreserved love-lorn agonies of fear for the life [illegible] lover Moore. "I suppose [illegible] in love with that long [illegible] not call her." And when with [illegible] he has brought the two [illegible] making a much needed [illegible] on she takes his thin fingers [illegible] two little hands, "at its efficacy [illegible] unspoken contract with [illegible] for worse, brings these people to [illegible] and vivid a bond of interest [illegible] can achieves.

[illegible] may can discuss this subject [illegible] at last to Mr. Trollope as [illegible] very novel reader reads him, [illegible] we here touch on his specialty one on which he never ceases to exercise his ingenuity. He speculates and muses upon it, and illustrates it by a never ending variety of examples. Here his mind is inexhaustible. Realist as he is, it is his delight to divest the scene of its mystery and terrors. He represents it as easy to make love. The difficulty with him is not to [illegible] sham, illusory proposals constitute the joy even of his flirtations, and play [illegible] the real ones. To the boy of twenty it comes as easily and naturally as the exercise of his limbs. "O O Mary,' cries Frank Gresham, "do you love me? Don't you love me? Won't you love me? Say you will. O Mary, dearest Mary! Will you? Won't you? Do you? Don't you? Come now, you have a right to give a fellow an answer." And in justification of the easy style, as opposed to the pecularly passionate phraseology which fiction indulges, and which within due bounds it is its mission to instill into the language of the affections, he quotes a scene from real life —

"A man cannot well describe that which he has never seen nor heard; but absolute words of one such scene did once come to the author's knowledge. The couple were by no means plebeian, or below the proper standard of high bearing and breeding; they were a handsome pair, living among educated people sufficiently given to mental pursuits, and in every way what a pair of polite lovers ought to be. The all-important conversation passed in this wise. The site of the passion [illegible] scene was the sea-shore, on which they were walking in autumn.

"Gentleman.—'Well, Miss [illegible] the long and the short of it is this here I am, you can take me or leave me.'

"Lady—scratching a gutter on the sand with her parasol, so as to allow a little salt water to run out of one hole into another.—'Of course I know that's all nonsense.'

"Gentleman.—'Nonsense! By Jove, it isn't nonsense at all. Come, Jane, here I am come, at any rate you can say something.'

"Lady — Yes I suppose I can say something.'

"Gentleman.—'Well, which is it to be, take me or leave me.'

"Lady—very slowly, and with a voice perhaps scarcely articulate, carrying on at the same time her engineering work on a wider scale.—'Well, I don't exactly want to leave you.'"

It is the affluence of his genius in this department that constitutes Mr Trollope's widest popularity, it is the fact that you cannot open a page anywhere in any number, but the chances are you come upon the scent or the fact of an offer. There is abundant matter of critics to admire in his lawyers, parsons, politicians, rustics, bagmen, or whatever other aspect of familiar life he sets himself to delineate and to divest of its conventional dignities, but the circulating library likes him for an straight-forward love-making, terminating in true English fashion, in a proposal. It likes the offer not slurred over, not taken for granted not shirked, but treated with distinction as a proper decorous conclusion of all that has gone before. He indulges this natural term. In each novel there is something distinctive and memorable in the method, pleasing discussion and stimulating to criticism on the only point on which many fair novel-readers have critical judgment.

MISCELLANEOUS

A model surgical operation —To take cheek out of a young man, and the jaw out of a woman.

An old wizard, speaking of marriage, says it's like any other disease—while there's life there's hope.

Josh Billings gives good advice to young wives. He says "Don't undertake to live with your mother in law, but if wuss comes to wusseas let your mother in-law live with yu!"

A wealthy bishop congratulated a poor priest on the good air which he breathed in his parish, to which the latter replied "Yes, my lord the air would be good enough if I could only live on it."

A man was once brought up before a magistrate charged with marrying six wives. The magistrate asked him how he could be so hardened a victim. 'Please your worship,' replied the fellow "I was trying to get a good one.'

A lady teacher in a Sunday school recently had occasion to illustrate a lesson on faith, by the story of a child who was told by his father to drop from an elevated place into his arms. The father could not be seen by the child, yet when commanded, it dropped. Upon the teacher asking her class what was shown by this story, a bright little fellow immediately replied, 'It shows he had pluck.'

A man in Terre Haute tells a story of a barber who was shaving him some time since. The barber stopped a few moments and procured a box on which he mounted to continue his work. The customer asked "What did you get on that box for?" To which the barber replied, "The snakes are all over the floor, sir and I wanted to get out of their way." The customer insisted on finishing the job himself.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

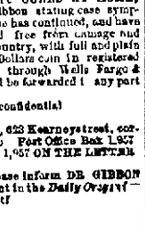
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET,
NEAR COMMERCIAL
San Francisco Established in 1854,
for the treatment of Seminal and Sexual Diseases such as Gonorrhœa Gleet Stricture Syphilis and all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (Leprosy not excepted) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco where he will be pleased to see his old patients and others requiring his services.

N B—If the Doctor cured rather than get money in seeking it, he would be rich indeed, and has returned with increased facilities for the cure of all evils of human suffering.

Terrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering not a miserable existence in the shadow, secretly and unknown from virus corrupting the whole system. Look at their pallid countenances and disfigured faces and the broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands and thousands close the scene. Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases a special study for years and who has certainly to our certain knowledge restored more unfortunate sufferers without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who, without a diploma publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and take strictly injury, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or the pernicious sexual indulgence practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, produces, with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: hollow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in expressing, strangers aversion to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, local flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, forerunning fatal consumption, consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure.
